

Pianist Uros Todic was born in Belgrade, Serbia. In his early years, his artistic prowess quickly attracted attention. He started his music education at the age of five and during his Master studies he was identified as a bright and enthusiastic pianist and holder of many awards from competitions, festivals, projects and became a professor who is known for his remarkable teaching methods and approach. During his performing career he was recognized as a young pianist of mature musicality and imagination, superior technique, and a heartwarming sound. Uros is performing actively as a soloist, accompanist and in chamber ensembles. In 2018 Uros is becoming a co – founder of Four Notes Music Training Center in Abu Dhabi, UAE and in 2021 creator and artistic director of the first Four Notes International Piano Competition in Abu Dhabi, UAE. Today, Uros is a piano professor who advocates for the development of a new system of music education in Middle East and the creation of more opportunities for students. So far, his students won numerous first, second and third prizes in international competitions as well as Laureate prizes. Uros was awarded several times for his pedagogical achievements and became a member of the jury panels in several international competitions.